Title: The Last Signal

In a distant future, humanity had spread across the galaxy, establishing colonies on countless planets. Despite technological marvels, a mysterious silence persisted—a signal that had been transmitting from an unknown source for over a century. Dr. Lena Morales, a renowned astrophysicist, dedicated her life to decoding this enigma.

One day, her team detected a faint pattern within the static—a recurring sequence of pulses. As she analyzed the data, Lena realized the pattern resembled a form of communication, possibly from an intelligent civilization. Excited yet cautious, she coordinated with international scientists to send a response.

Weeks passed. Then, unexpectedly, the static transformed into a clear message: "We are here." The message sparked hope but also fear. Who were they? What did they want? As Lena's team prepared for further contact, the signal abruptly ceased. Humanity was left with more questions than answers—an enduring mystery from the cosmos.

This story illustrates themes of curiosity, communication beyond Earth, and the unknown perils and potentials of first contact with extraterrestrial intelligence.

- Inferential Questions: Require students to read between the lines (e.g., "What might be the character's motivations?")
- Analytical Questions: Encourage evaluation of themes, characters, or plot devices (e.g., "How does the story challenge our view of artificial intelligence?")
- Opinion-Based Questions: Invite personal reflection or critique (e.g., "Do you agree with the ethical decision made by the characters? Why or why not?")
- Creative Questions: Stimulate imaginative responses (e.g., "Imagine an ending different from the story; what would it be?")

Designing Effective Comprehension Questions for Short Sci-Fi Stories

Constructing meaningful questions requires careful planning:
